

Celebrating 50 Years!

Keynote Speaker

Thomas C. Südhof, MD

AVRAM Goldstein Professor,
Molecular and Cellular Physiology

Professor, by Courtesy of Neurology and of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences

Stanford School of Medicine
Stanford, California

Investigator, Howard Hughes
Medical Institute

2013 Nobel Prize Winner
in Physiology or Medicine

Dr. Kenneth S. and Audrey S. Gould Lecture in Molecular and Cellular Medicine

Topic:

How Understanding the Molecular Logic of Neural Circuits
May Help Understanding Autism

Date and Time:

Thursday, April 14, 2016
Noon

Location:

Conference Room 1302
Clinical Academic Building
125 Paterson Street
New Brunswick, New Jersey

Hosted by the: Child Health Institute of New Jersey

For more information contact:

Kathleen Semler at 732-235-9324 or via email:
kathleen.semmler@rutgers.edu

For shuttle service schedule visit: rudots.rutgers.edu
Scroll down to RBHS Hospital Schedule.